

Why Hot Tub Circuit Therapy® feels so good

When a personal trainer designs a specific series of exercises, called circuit training, you get a more balanced workout.

Similarly, in the seats of your Caldera® spa you'll find various types of jets in specific anatomical configurations.

So, as you move from seat to seat, all of your body's major muscle groups receive a completely satisfying massage.

We call this remarkable system Hot Tub Circuit Therapy.

Comfort You Control

Conveniently located diverter valves let you direct the water flow to specific groups of jets. They can also be used with the air controls to fine-tune the exact amount of pressure you want from the jets.

1 Atlas® Neck Massage System

The EcstaSeat, in selected models, includes independently controlled, above-water-level jets to relax your neck muscles.

8 Air Jet System

Produces a gentle soft-tissue massage through strategically located air jets, in selected models.

7 UltraMassage™ Lounge/Seat

Gives a soothing massage to your neck, shoulders, and middle back.

Please note: Jet systems and positions vary by model. See model specifications for details.

2 EcstaSeat®

Provides a targeted massage for the large muscles in your back. Selected models also feature jets for your hands and/or calves.

3 LumbarSsage® Seat

Helps relieve tension and pain in the lower back with a unique jet configuration. Selected models also feature jets for your calves.

Utopia Series Geneva™

4 Whirlpool Jet
